

..... Wild Trails at Kanha National Park.....

Kanha National Park is a national park and a Tiger Reserve in the Mandla and Balaghat districts of Madhya Pradesh, India. In the 1930s, Kanha area was divided into two sanctuaries, Hallon and Banjar, of 250 and 300 km<sup>2</sup>. Kanha National Park was created on 1 June, 1955. Today it stretches over an area of 940 km<sup>2</sup> in the two districts Mandla and Balaghat. Together with a surrounding buffer zone of 1,067 km<sup>2</sup> and the neighboring 110 km<sup>2</sup> Phen Sanctuary it forms the Kanha Tiger Reserve.

The park's landmark achievement is the preservation of the rare Hardground Swamp Deer (Barasingha), saving it from near extinction. Stringent conservation programmes for the overall protection of the Park's Flora and Fauna, makes it the largest and well maintained National Park in Central India.

The park has a significant population of Royal Bengal Tiger, leopards, the sloth bear, Barasingha and Indian wild dog. The lush sal and bamboo forests, grassy meadows and ravines of Kanha provided inspiration to Rudyard Kipling for his famous novel "Jungle Book".

Jabalpur has the nearest airport (175 kms.) with flights to many big cities in India, like Mumbai, Delhi, Mandla (70 km) has a good connection with Kanha and there is a tourist taxi service from Jabalpur to the national park. From Jabalpur, travel via mandla and Nainpur - perhaps with an overnight stop - and take the diversion at Bamhni, Mandla, Nainpur and Seoni all have sports clubs, Internet cafes, guides, christian churches and some beautiful temples. There are three gates for entrance into the forest. The Kisli gate is best accessed from Jabalpur and stops at the village Khatia, inside the buffer area. The second gate is Mukki and the last, and most recently opened gate, is Serai, Jabalpur is the most convenient place to get here.

The park lies within the tropical monsoon climatic zone, characterized by well-defined winters, summers and rains. Temperature as low as 5.2 °C and as high as 44 °C have been recorded. Average rainfall is 152 Centimeters, most of which falls during the monsoons. Some rains result from the cyclonic depressions as well, between the months of November and February.
